General Information

Short summary

A German startup is specialised in unisex natural cosmetic products for face and body. They are seeking a contract manufacturer to support product development, testing, market readiness, and production, ideally also offering services such as packaging design and fulfillment. The company plans to launch with a small series of around 1,000 units per product under a commercial agreement.

Full description

The German startup company develops unisex natural cosmetic products for face and body (non-decorative cosmetics). It concentrates on simple formulations with a high percentage of organic and fair ingredients.

They are looking for a contract manufacturer who can support the German startup in developing effective formulations, get them tested and ready for market as well as produce them. Ideally the sought cooperation partner offers further services like support in packaging design, packaging, fulfillment solutions etc.

The products oil and water based cosmetic products (serum, cleanser and fluids) are natural, i.e. contain a high percentage of organic and fair ingredients, they are vegan and microplastic free. The company will start with a small series of about 1000 pieces per product.

Cooperation under a commercial agreement is envisaged.
